The down low on Tiger Nuts... What are these nuts?

This signature superfood at Madame Tiger, have been a staple in the West African diet for generations.

They are not actually nuts, but are little nutrient dense root vegetables that sport a stripey tiger like exterior. They only need rainwater to grow and are entirely vegan, allergen free, delicious and sustainable.

THE ORIGINAL

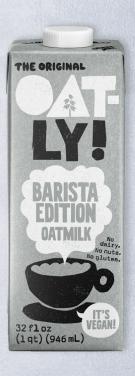

OATLY!

What makes Oatly so Delicious...?

Oatly goes through a special process to achieve its creamy texture and nutal flavour. After the oats and water are milled they add natural enzymes that break the oat starch down into smaller components, like maltose (also called malt sugar), which sweetens the products naturally. They then remove bran, leaving only the loose fibres, the beta-glucans. Oatly Oat milks contain macronutrients from the oats, in other words, protein, fat, and carbohydrates.

Organic Oat 6 x 1L

The same taste of oats that you know and love, but they are certified organic to suit even the purest of oat purists out there and made with as few ingredients as possible.

Chocolate Oat 6 x 1L

What could be better than creamy oat milk filled to the brim with the chocolaty taste of chocolate! The Cocoa Horizon Foundation certification ensures that the cocoa used is sustainably sourced.

Barista Oat 6 x 1L

For true baristas,
pretend-baristas and
other coffee lovers
this rich, creamy, and micro-foamable oat
milk has a delicious neutral taste that won't interfere with the flavour of your coffee.

Original Oat 6 x 1L

Full of plant-based creaminess vibe from oats. It has been fortified with vitamins (D2, riboflavin, B12), and minerals (calcium), has 1.5% fat, mostly from rapeseed, and the sugar is the oat's own.

The soy milk designed for coffee.

- Formula Ground and Filtered for that smooth taste
- Crafted using quality non-GMO Soy beans
- With 31.8% less sugar than other soy milks

Seed oil free, Aussie oat milk that makes nutritionists and baristas froth!

It may surprise you that plenty (if not most) plant-based milks contain industrial seed oils like canola, rapeseed or sunflower oil. It helps them taste, well, more milky, and create the creamy texture we love in our coffee.

This is why OMG went on a mission to make a plant-based milk that does the right thing by you, your coffee, and the environment, proudly embracing Aussie olive oil in their delicious oat milk, as an industrial seed oil alternative.
